How did the Fund perform in the last year?

The Bloomberg US Aggregate Bond Index (USD) (TR) returned +6.16% for the year ended October 31, 2025. All sectors except ABS outperformed Treasuries as investors remained constructive on risk asset performance supported by a resilient domestic economy. The best sector in the Index was MBS, probably because the Federal Reserve continued to not reinvest mortgage proceeds received from its vast portfolio. Corporate credit performed well as spreads tightened over the course of the year.

The Knights of Columbus Core Bond I Shares Class Fund returned +6.27% for the year, slightly outperforming the benchmark. The primary drivers of portfolio outperformance for the year ended October 31, 2025, were being overweight spread product as Treasuries underperformed most asset classes, being overweight MBS and security selection across the portfolio's sectors.

Our conservative outlook on risk asset performance constrained the Fund's performance over the prior year. The U.S. economy proved stronger than expected especially given the uncertainty surrounding tariff policy and the government's growing fiscal deficit. Corporate credit spreads are near historic lows and investment grade bond supply is expected to be robust as technology companies fund their artificial intelligence infrastructure. We continue to believe that wider spreads in higher-rated securitized product positions remain the more attractive option for investor capital, and we remain focused on generating high-quality carry returns in this environment.

Householding

Rule 30e-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 permits funds to transmit only one copy of a proxy statement, annual report or semi-annual report to shareholders (who need not be related) with the same residential, commercial or electronic address, provided that the shareholders have consented in writing and the reports are addressed either to each shareholder individually or to the shareholders as a group. This process is known as “householding” and is designed to reduce the duplicate copies of materials that shareholders receive and to lower printing and mailing costs for funds. Once implemented, if you would like to discontinue householding for your accounts, please call toll-free at 1-844-KC-FUNDS (1-844-523-8637) to request individual copies of these documents. Once the Fund receives notice to stop householding, we will begin sending individual copies 30 days after receiving your request.
